CALM, LIVELY OR RUSTIC?

Find the right grading.

The choice of grading affects how the new floor looks and feels when in place. It can give your floor a restful, vibrant or rustic feel, and so can give your living space its own individual character. The 12 colours for the tilo TREND collections are available in three gradings in the collections PURISTICO TREND, MARCANTO TREND and RUSTICO TREND.

Calm grading.

Do you love the sophistication of simplicity? Wood, selected and pre-selected according to this grading, exhibits a particularly calm, uniform appearance. There are only occasional knots and virtually no cracks or splints. Perfect for those who love and live for purism and minimalism.

Rustic grading.

Do you love a wild, natural look? This grading brings rustic charm to your floor. Knots, cracks and interesting colour variations within the planks are prominent features. The floor looks natural and creates a real feel-good atmosphere in the home.

Lively grading.

Do you want something expressive and vibrantly beautiful? The lively grading is, as the name indicates, not quite as calm. Here you will find knots and cracks. These floors bring life to your home without taking over the room. Perfect for those who want a lively looking floor.

Also available in vinyl:

easy selection thanks to colour match - complementary colour schemes create harmony.

You have found your dream floor in parquet but you are unsure if parquet really is the ideal material for all your requirements? tilo's colour match scheme is the solution. The parquet floors in the MARCANTO TREND COLLECTION are also available in vinyl. The colour match scheme unites the worlds of parquet and vinyl. Read more in the part ELITO TREND.

Luxury living.

Parquet

Parquet is nature in its purest form and the most refined flooring you can find. A floor that makes an impression. Thanks to its wonderful properties, a tilo parquet floor will become the centre point of your family life, ensure a pleasant indoor climate and simply feel good.

Our parquet floors provide a wonderful barefoot feeling and are pleasantly warm for the feet. Incidentally, a wood floor can only be called parquet if the top layer, i.e. the wear layer, is at least 2.5 mm thick.

Diverse collections.

Discover the other tilo #PARQUET collections PURISTICO, MARCANTO and RUSTICO in addition to the TREND collections: different wood types, interesting edge designs and further exciting colours await at www.tilo.com

ELITO TREND

Flooring that will amaze you.

Vinyl offers unlimited possibilities and is the chameleon of the flooring world. Vinyl planks aim to resemble the original 'wood' as closely as possible so that the floor doesn't actually look like vinyl - people will marvel at its natural-looking beauty. ELITO TREND turns the design of your dreams into reality while being durable, long-lasting and hygienic.

The elite of design floors, in a majestic length.

Thanks to its exclusive product features in terms of format, colour and surface, the ELITO TREND vinyl planks have a completely authentic parquet look unlike any other. The colour selection for the tile best-sellers, the brushed surfaces and the bevelled edges on all four sides accentuate this extraordinary appearance. Here, the living beauty of wood is captured by an especially durable floor.

Unrivalled in terms of design & technology.

The elite of vinyl floors! The original parquet planks in their initial length of 2.2 m are scanned here and used as a basis for the vinyl design. This prevents repetition of a design and allows the uniquely natural appearance of the ELITO TREND floor to shine through.

Colour match

Harmonious transitions throughout the entire home

Large formats in the kitchen and living room or hallway and stairs create expanse and harmony - after all, the trend towards open-plan spaces is still continuing. In open-plan layouts, the floor also becomes an important design element. But how do you achieve this when each room has its own rules and different flooring requirements?

What's the right floor covering for these spaces? Thanks to advanced surface treatments, parquet is now well protected and can be laid throughout the entire house. Of course, a little more care is still needed in some living areas.

Parquet meets vinyl with the same format and appearance.

Enjoy the best of both worlds: the wonderful natural qualities of parquet for a pleasant feel-good atmosphere in the living room and the ease of maintenance and robustness of vinyl in the kitchen, for example. The TREND collections feature 12 different colours, which come in comparable colour ranges. This allows you to find the right floor for any requirement, be it the hallway and kitchen, nursery or bedroom.

Please note that there are natural differences in terms of colour and feel.

Wood is, by its very nature, varied in structure and colour. Not only can wood colour tones differ from one another, parquet and vinyl colours can too. Parquet and vinyl are also completely different materials. Not only does the material itself have different properties, the structure, permissible discolouration over time, the feel and the format do too. The overall character and impression of a vinyl or parquet floor are fundamentally different. Colour matching therefore means that the colours of parquet and vinyl may not be 100% identical. However, colour matching allows a comparable, harmonious overall impression to be created.

VINYL & ITS BENEFITS.

1. Faster cleaning, easier living:

Dirt doesn't stick readily to the varnished surface, which makes vinyl floors very easy to clean and incredibly easy to maintain.

2. Extremely comfortable underfoot feeling, comfortable home:

No matter which look you opt for, vinyl floors always feel wonderfully warm underfoot.

3. Deceptively realistic:

The smooth surfaces combined with high-quality decorative films create an overall appearance that will amaze you. Vinyl floors are barely distinguishable from the original.

4. Unlimited possibilities:

From a wide range of wood designs to an elegant stone effect, vinyl floors always look good.

5. Impact sound insulation included:

tilo vinyl floors feature integrated impact sound insulation made from cork. This saves you time and money as impact sound insulation doesn't need to be purchased as an added extra and then installed.
